DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group III claims 27-29 in the reply filed on 03/16/06 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garbuio (US 3,925,916).

Garbuio teaches a flexible insulated insert for a boot comprising a foot fitting liner with a core of elastomeric sheet material sandwiched between two skins wherein the part of the core is an open celled foam polymer in an air-impervious envelope, preferably of heat sealable plastic (Abstract and Column 1, lines 14-17). The open celled foam polymer of Garbuio reads on the porous material contained within the envelope as claimed in the presently claimed subject matter. Further, Figure 1 of Garbuio seems to show a toe cap area, a boot upper, a boot sole, inner, and outer boot layers as claimed in the presently claimed subject matter. With respect to claim 27, although Garbuio does not explicitly teach the insulating structure having thermal conductivity of less than or equal to 25 mW/mK at 25°C, it is the examiner's position that since the invention of Garbuio has the same utility as the applicant (i.e. boot insulations) the flexible insulated insert comprising a foot fitting liner with a core of elastomeric sheet material of Garbuio necessarily has the thermal conductivity of 25 mW/mK at 25°C or lower in order to successfully practice the instantly claimed invention.

Art Unit: 1771

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 27-29 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-34 of copending Application No. 11/106,788 in view of Garbuio (US 3,925,916). The claims 1-34 of copending Application No. 11/106,788 teaches every limitation of claims 27-29 except toe cap area, a boot upper, a boot sole, boot comprising inner and outer boot layers wherein the insulation component is positioned between the layers, and insulating component is affixed to the inner layer and adjacent to a wearer of the boot.

Art Unit: 1771

However, Garbuio teaches a flexible insulated insert for a boot (Abstract) wherein the Figure 1 of Garbuio shows a boot with a toe cap area, a boot upper, a boot sole, inner, and outer boot layers as claimed in the presently claimed subject matter. Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use the boot structure of Garbuio with the insulated article as disclosed in the copending Application No. 11/106,788, motivated by the desire to provide insulated footwear.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.
